

We're casting a wide net in Biloxi

We're planning for this to be a fitting tribute to those who helped build Biloxi's legendary seafood industry and are continuing to help keep it an important part of our economy – and a way of life here in Biloxi.

The seafood industry always has and always will play an important role in Biloxi, so we're making this a landmark that we can all be proud of. We're making it one for the ages.

An old landmark will get a new look in the next several months, as the Golden Fisherman is returned to his original splendor in his new waterfront location near Point Cadet Plaza.

The legion of names you see on this page represent the who's who of those who made Biloxi the seafood capital of the world. These names will be returned to the base of the Golden Fisherman statue, and you'll see new landscaping and lighting around the statue as part of a community effort to spruce up the fisherman's new location.
